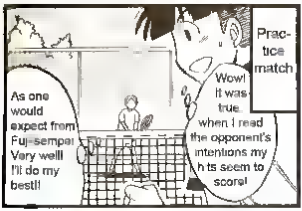
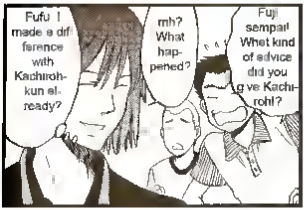
Read their intentions!

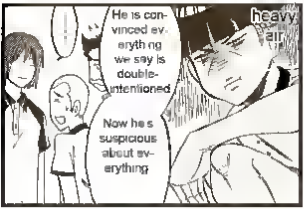
Th-thank you very much
Yes, your hits are very straight forward!
The opponent's intentions !
Though there are times when reading your opponent's intentions are important



Practice match
As one would expect from Fuji-sempai! Very well! I'll do my best!!
Wow! It was true. when I read the opponent's intentions my hits seem to score!



Fufu I made a difference with Kachiroh-kun already?
mh? What happened?
Fuji sempai! What kind of advice did you give Kachiroh!?



What a Problem#

That's the golden pair for you
What a problem
and I feel like even though it looks problematic it may not be quite so!
No matter what pinch I'm in during a match I recall Oishi's face when he says "What a problem"

Petite

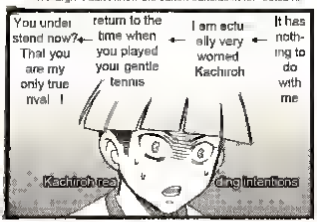
yeah
So?
petite muscle training
It's like the hard atmosphere softens a bit
Even though we add the word "petite" the training amount doesn't change

099 #note I'm not sure how the official translation of "korya ta hen s Might be "this is serious" er someth ng :3

Intentions behind cool words

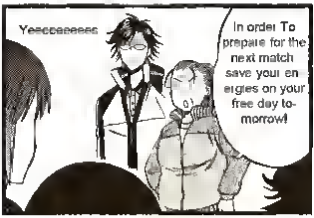
Ryoma-kun can I you do anything?
I feel a bit irresponsible
That Kachiroh he s still reading too much into people s intentions and now he s misstructing everyone

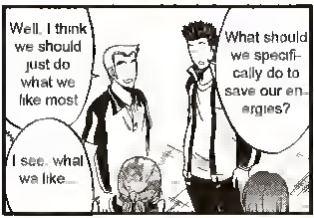
TN: argh. I don't know the canon translation for "betsu ni"

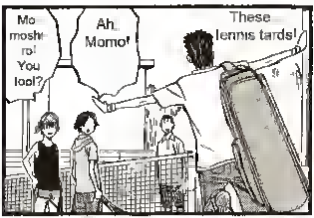


You understand now? That you are my only true rival!
return to the time when you played your gentle tennis
I am actually very worried Kachiroh
It has nothing to do with me
Kachiroh reading intentions

Charge

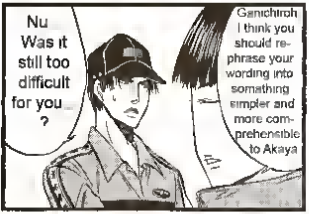




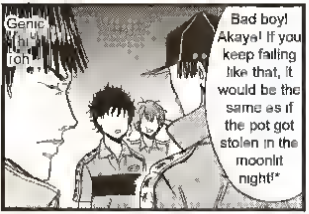


Easily understandable

Dammit! Akaya! Whats all those unforced mistakes about!?
This suits the proverb "The pot gets stolen in the moonlit night" to perfection!

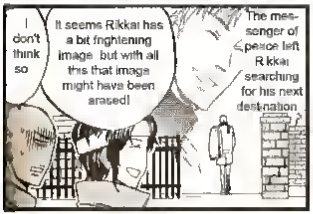


Nu Was it still too difficult for you..?
Ganichiroh I think you should rephrase your wording into something simpler and more comprehensible to Akaya



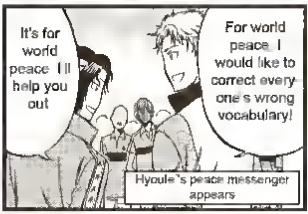
TN: I ans at e But at least a nete will have to fill in tol English igno of e Sanada speaks in a mere mother y way as f he ware talking o a d nstead of explaining the proverb n the last ea e talks all rough and taugh

After the messenger's departure



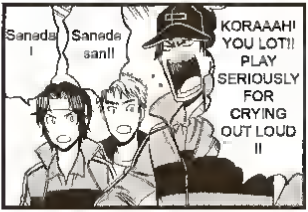
I don't think so
It seems Rikkai has a bit frightening image but with all this that image might have been erased!
The messenger of peace left Rikkai searching for his next destination

Peace messenger



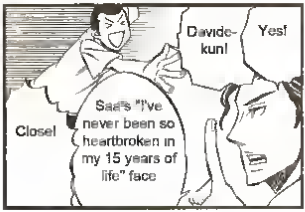
It's for world peace I'll help you out
For world peace I would like to correct everyone's wrong vocabulary!
Hyoule's peace messenger appears

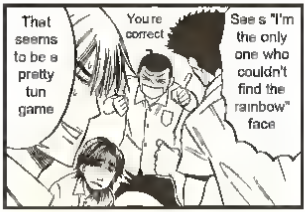
TN: "De gozaimasu" is the formal way of saying "it is"



Rikkai instantly becomes peaceful!
That's funny
Please be careful! Would you please approach your training in a more serious manner Sirs!!?

what kind of face?





Shell mound